Why this book is good

- This book works well as a reader for classroom partners parent/child, teacher/student etc.
- Answers can be improvised.
- We have an inner voice and an out-loud speaking voice. Both are needed when reading.
- Visualising while listening and reading is the ability to imagine in the mind's eye what is being described. Without visualisation, meaning and prior learnings are more likely to be forgotten.
- This book promotes and stimulates visualisation.
