

My name is:

A Collaborative Comprehension Worksheet for Reading Partners

The Town Mouse and the Country Mouse - A Let's do it again! reading play by Ellie Hallett

readingworks.com.au

1. What is a cousin? _____

2. Each partner chooses a column of words and then writes an imaginative sentence about each one on the facing page. Use a dictionary if needed.

windfall nuts

skirting board

acorn

impatient

organic

drawing room

morsels

banquet

vintage

digestion

fledglings

bustle

merits

wits

skittled

near-misses

sipping

Aesop

portmanteau

fable

Mark each other's sentences. Each sentence is worth 10 marks. Spelling accuracy, handwriting neatness and the imaginative content of the sentence needs to be a part of each mark. Total: /

3. Fill the table with words that have one, two, and three syllables. Find them in The Town Mouse and the Country Mouse book.

one syllable	two syllables	three syllables	four syllables

Mark your partner's word collection. Give 1 mark for each correct one-syllable word; two marks for each two-syllable word etc. Add five bonus marks for excellent handwriting. Total: /

4. Give each other a combined spelling and handwriting test on the words on this page or from the book. Decide together what marking scheme to use.

Partner's initials:

Grand total of marks:

/

Teacher's initials: