A Collaborative Comprehension Worksheet for Reading Partner Buddies

Who Will Bell the Cat? A Let's do it again! scripted play by Ellie Hallett readingworks.com.au

Print a copy of this free worksheet page for each person.

1. Draw a 10cm x 10cm square on the facing page in your project book. Inside the square write the name of each character in this play using your best handwriting. Decorate the picture frame. Time: Approx. 35 minutes.
2. Find as many contractions in this story as you can. (Do not confuse a contraction with possessive case.) A contraction is the short way we say or write one word instead of two words, such as would've, which is the contraction for would have. Write the ones you find in the book on the table below.

Fill in the table below. An example has been done for you.

Contraction	The two words	Pages
she's	she has	4 7 14 16

3. On the facing page, write all the –ing words that you can find in the play. Choose your favourite three and write a short story about each one.
4. What is a pantry? _____
5. Search Who Will Bell the Cat? for alliterations. Write as many as you can find under your three –ing word stories. Example: Martha Mouse.
Create your own marking system with your partner before you mark each other's work.
